

SATURDAY WILL BE DIXON'S BIGGEST DOLLAR SAVING DAY

STORES OF DIXON WILL ABOUND IN REAL BONA FIDE MONEY-SAVING BARGAINS ON COMING SATURDAY—CUT HIGH COST OF LIVING.

This issue of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, which is the official Dollar Day edition gotten out for the merchants of Dixon, brings a message from the stores of Dixon into ten thousand homes in this section of the state. It contains news of importance to everyone, and should be carefully read, page by page. The readers of this paper are offered an opportunity that comes but seldom. They are to be the gainers if they will take advantage of their opportunity.

In these days of high costs of merchandise, the income of the average citizen is strained in its effort to make both ends meet. The prices of the very necessities of life are so greatly increased that most everyone finds living expenses a problem that demands serious consideration and wise planning. Obviously, the most important economy that can be practiced is wise buying. You are going to have an opportunity to buy things that you really need at prices that you will be quick to realize are unusually low. It is an opportunity that you have not had for some time and may not have again very soon. Therefore, if you have thrift and a desire to economize, you can't afford to overlook Dixon's big dollar-saving bargain day, which is to be Saturday of this week.

The merchants of Dixon desire to be fair and to meet their customers half way. They wish to show the people of this territory that they appreciate the trade that is coming to them and they are willing to give those customers a day of trading that will be truly beneficial to the buyers. Saturday will be purely a buyer's day. The bargains that are offered in this issue of the Telegraph and will be announced in subsequent issues of the Telegraph this week and will be on the shelves and counters of the stores of Dixon on next Saturday are real, bona fide bargains. They are no bait to attract the unwary. They are not shoddy goods at low prices. They are not shams in any way. They are standard, high grade goods which will be sold at a price which would be ruinous to the dealers if they made a practice of selling goods at that price.

There are always bargains to be had in the stores of Dixon, and they are real, honest bargains. Dixon is a safe place to trade any day in the year. But in no city in the land will there ever be found a greater array of attractive bargains offered to the trading public at one time than will be on sale in Dixon on the coming Saturday.

Your cue, Mr. and Mrs. Buyer, is to read the ads in this issue of the Telegraph and in the subsequent issues this week. The merchants of Dixon will tell you in these ads of their offers to you. They cannot tell you all of the good things they have in store for you. That you must find out for yourselves by visiting the stores of the city on Saturday. But they will detail a few of the bargains that will go to make next Saturday one of the biggest dollar-saving days you have ever seen.

The money saving conditions will prevail in every line of retail trade. Not only the clothier and the grocer and the dry goods man, but the implement man and the jeweler, the hardware man and the druggist—all lines of retail merchandising from a shoe-string to an automobile. There will be bargains to be had among the necessities as well as the luxuries of life, and you want both if you can get them at a price within your means.

And again we beg leave to advise you, read the ads, then come and buy in Dixon on Saturday and you will see the value that has been added to your dollar.

Military Expert Shows Four Ways In Which Germany Could Attack The U.S.

(By a Military Expert)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—Special—In case of war between the United States and Germany, what form will the conflict take? Will there be an actual physical meeting between the armed forces of the two nations, or will the conflict be wholly at long distance?

Assuming that England retains control of the seas, there are four ways in which Germany could attack the United States in addition to sinking American ships through the use of submarines. They are:

1. Through the use of submarines of the U-53 type, which might penetrate into inner New York, Philadelphia or Boston harbors at night and cause untold damage to shipping before chased away or sunk.

2. Through the fomenting of plots in Mexico against the United States, and by the use of German gold to incite the Mexicans to deeds of violence along the border.

3. Through commerce raiders that might break through the British North sea cordon and create havoc in shipping along the Atlantic seaboard.

4. Through a separate peace with Japan by which Japan might be induced to attack the United States from the Pacific side or seize the Philippine islands while the U. S. fleet is in the Atlantic.

First Method Most Feasible.

If Germany intends any offensive measures against the U. S. the first method would be the most feasible. The U-53 has demonstrated that a German submarine can slip into an American harbor without being seen until it makes its presence known. It is also known that the United States has little defense against attacks of that kind.

Of course, in the event of a declaration of war, all harbors would be mined and a submarine would have to run the risk of striking a mine on its way into port. Then too, the U. S. destroyers would lead a mosquito fleet of vessels of all descriptions, from launches to tug boats and fishing vessels, which would prove an effective patrol.

Provisions have already been made tentatively for this fleet and the general staff of the navy has already prepared definite plans for its formation. If a submarine dared show itself near an American port it would run risk of being sunk, for there is an ample

POSSIBLE FATAL
BURNS CAUSED BY MATCH HEAD

MRS. JOHN SLAIN, AGED 70, WAS FRIGHTFULLY BURNED
LIGHTING LAMP.

D. B. DODGE WAS SCALDED
Stepped Into Manhole Full of Boiling Water—Left Leg Was Badly Burned.

Mrs. John Slain, age 70, residing at 420 College avenue, was probably fatally burned late Monday afternoon while attempting to light the gas in the dining room at her home. She had lighted the match on the under side of the table top and as she pulled the burning match out it ignited the fringe of the table cloth.

Instantly the aged lady pulled the cloth from the table, but it fell in a flaming heap at her feet and in a moment her skirts were ignited. Before assistance reached her her skirts were almost entirely consumed by the flames, and the lower part of her body was frightfully burned.

A physician was summoned and all medical science could do was administered, but early this afternoon she was in a very critical condition. The extent of her burns, the nervous shock and her age are believed to form a combination from which she can not recover.

O. B. DODGE SCALDED

O. B. Dodge, who resides at the corner of Third street and Spot avenue, was painfully scalded yesterday afternoon when he stepped into a manhole full of boiling water which had just been drawn from the furnace at his residence. Workmen were engaged in cleaning the boiler and had allowed a large quantity of hot water to run into the manhole in the basement. Mr. Dodge stepped into the hole and severely scalded his left leg from the ankle to above the knee.

The attending surgeon does not anticipate serious results.

ANOTHER BAD IOWA WRECK

Forty Injured When C. R. I. & P. Train Went Into Ditch.

Walnut, Ia., Feb. 6.—Forty were injured, at least one fatally, in the wreck of a Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Chicago-Denver train last night. Five steel coaches were hurled down a ten-foot embankment into a ditch and the fixtures caught fire from a stove. The temperature was at zero during the rescue work.

Heavy Fighting With Villa Forces East of Chihuahua Reported.

(Associated Press)

El Paso, Feb. 6.—Heavy fighting between Carranza and Villa forces 30 miles west of Chihuahua City is reported by passengers arriving from there. It is rumored that Gen. Francisco Gonzalo, late commander of the Juarez garrison, was killed and that 150 wounded Carranzistas have been brought to Chihuahua.

DISCUSS CIGARETTE LAW AT MEETING

CITY COMMISSIONERS HEARD A
PLEA OF DEALERS' REPRESENTATIVES.

FUN IN STERLING ORDINANCE

The city council was treated to real humor this morning when, in considering a probable ordinance licensing the sale of cigarettes in this city, City Clerk Grover read the Sterling ordinance, which requires a fee of $100 a year from all dealers in that city, makes it decidedly unlawful for cigarettes containing opium, morphine, cocaine, bella donna, arsenic or other drugs, which cost a hundred-fold more than tobacco, to be offered for sale.

Robert Sterling, George Campbell and Will Krohn, representing the cigarette dealers of the city, were present at the meeting and the commissioners listened to their side of the subject, and it was apparent that the city law makers were impressed with their plea that a license of $100 would prove prohibitive. No action was taken by the councilmen this forenoon, but an ordinance will be framed soon and submitted for discussion.

TO CUT-OVER SWITCH BOARDS AT MIDNIGHT

DIXON HOME PHONE CO. WILL BE IN NEW BUILDING ON SUNDAY MORNING.

The Dixon Home Telephone company in all probability will move its exchange into its new building at the corner of Peoria avenue and Second street Saturday night, and the switch boards will be cut over at midnight. The service will be practically uninterrupted when the "cut over" is made, as it is announced by the engineers in charge that the work will take but a minute or two. The new building is practically ready for occupancy and subscribers of the company will be enjoying the finest service in the country Sunday morning.

WOULD BE ACTING EXECUTIVE

Should Lowden and Oglesby Go
With Troops in Case of War

Should the "real thing" happen—and there is a peculiar unanimity of feeling in Springfield that it will—these developments are assured:

Governor Lowden will enter military service; Lieutenant Governor Oglesby, vice executive of the state, will do likewise. Adam C. Cliffe, of Sycamore, a neighbor of Governor Lowden in Ogle County, will be the acting governor of Illinois, because he is President Pro Tem of the Senate. Illinois troops will refuse to enter English or Canadian training camps, but will insist on executing their duty by the flag as a unit from Illinois under command of their own officers.

GERMANS PROPERTY IS SAFE

State Department Emphasizes That Their Holdings Are Protected By Our Laws.

(Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 6.—Reporting the sinking of the steamer Evestone, U. S. Consul Frost at Queenstown says: "Provisional British collier Evestone was sunk by shell fire from a German submarine in the vicinity of Fastnet Saturday. American negroable seaman Richard Rillace of Baltimore was killed during the shelling of the boat east of Evestone. Details are not yet available."

Frost's report says the Evestone was a provisional collier, which leads to the possibility that she might be classed as a warship. If she was in the Admiralty service no possible trouble with Germany on that score opens up.

AMERICANS IN GERMANY SUFFER NO INCONVENIENCE

It is officially stated that there is no change in the status of the 2,000 Americans in Germany, and whether they shall leave Germany is a matter for their individual decision.

State department officials reiterate that sailing of American ships to the war zone is still a question for private individuals to settle. The government has taken no action.

It is further emphasized that all German property in the United States including postal savings funds, is safe guarded by law.

DIXONITES SEE"FAIR AND WARMER"

"Fair and Warmer," which comes to the Opera House tomorrow evening, is considered the funniest farce produced within the past year and as a proof, it ran for over a year at the Eltinge theatre in New York and is now in its seventh month at the Cort theatre in Chicago. If you want to know anything about this merriest of comedies ask Will Ware, Chas. Duis, Edward Brewster, C. V. Chapman, Harry Seekman, Sam Bacharach, Harold Drew, Phil Kerz and many others who have seen it in Chicago. On account of the stores keeping open tomorrow night the performance will not begin until 8:30, thus giving all ample time to attend.

A Galley o' Fun!

LIGHT ON A DARK SUBJECT.

The suburbanite is a man who spends his daytime in the city and his salary in the country. He usually is old enough to know better. The suburbanite is a patron saint of transportation companies, snow-shovel makers, perambulator manufacturers, lawn-mower grinders, and growers of seed-grass, garden, and canary.

He lunches at Thompson's, dines at home, and eats his breakfast on the road to the station.

He knows his way home in the dark, but probably would fail to recognize his bungalow if he were to run up against it in the daytime.

The suburbanite usually has a wife, four children, la grippe, and no permanent cook.

He sleeps all day Sunday dreaming of trial-balances. Week-days the babies are still slumbering when he leaves for the city in the morning, and abed when he reaches home at night. Offspring of suburbanites know only by hearsay that they have a father.

All suburban jokes on record were written by cave-dwellers. Suburban life is no joke to the suburbanite. Besides, he has no time for foolishness—the seven-thirty local waits for no man.

AN INTERESTED PARTY.

"Yes! Cholly has taken up hunting. I believe his doctor recommended it."

"His doctor? I thought it might have been his tailor!"

WHAT IT COSTS.

Running an auto is now so much of a necessity that I should like to give my experience. I am deeply pained from time to time as I notice the gross extravagance of my friends, and I think it is high time that the real figures should be given.

When I was getting fifteen dollars a week, I talked the matter over with my wife, and we decided that we could deny ourselves the auto for another six months, but at that time I was suddenly raised to sixteen; no obstacle then preventing, I got my first car.

The cost of a car should be carefully considered. My experience is that it is better to get the best car you can—for the money, so I did not hesitate. I secured a modest little runabout for only five thousand dollars, paying the agent out of my first week's salary. The balance was furnished by my mother-in-law, who has the privilege of using it once every spring.

I have had the car now for six months; during this period we have been to California twice and we took a hurried trip over the Alps; besides this I have used it to go to and from my office.

The car has had very rough usage, and yet the total expense counting gasoline and three tire plugs, has been only three dollars. How do I account for this? I don't. I simply give the facts.

I might add that I am using the same spark-plugs as when I started, and I have been offered three times what they cost me. I intend to use them for a year or so longer, however, when I confidently expect to sell them for even more than this.

PROGRESSIVE FARMING.

"Well, yes," confessed honest Farmer Hornbeak, the while a grim grin wrinkled his weather-beaten complexion. "It's a good 'eal o' trouble, but the satisfaction I feel amply repays me for the extra work. Ye see, by degrees I'm sharpenin' up the top of every stump on the place, and in the course o' time I hope to have matters so arranged that the hired man will find it fully as comfortable to stand up durin' the day as to set down."

TRUE.

ALL CHILDREN LOVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Give it when feverish, cross, bilious, for bad breath or sour stomach.

Look at the tongue, mother! If Look at the tongue, mother. If coat-one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food, and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Gas Meters

Does your gas meter sit in the kitchen and stare at your wife. Or has it the decency to go down cellar and stay there?

Ours sits in the kitchen. And we don't like it. It's so glum. It makes us nervous. Every time we begin to cook it clicks its tongue at us. Not loud, but just enough to be aggravating. It knows all the time what it's doing to us. And it knows we know.

What does the gas company send out a gloomy thing like that to take your money away from you for, any how? Does a gas meter have to be melancholy? Can't it be bright and cheerful? Is there any good reason why it shouldn't smile and be happy, even if it does rob you while you're away for the summer?

The greenwood tree of English song and story is now said to have been the holly, which retains its bright dress the year round and is supposed to have stood Robt Hood and other outlaws in good stead, when, clad in Lincoln green, they sought its shelter, depending on the law of protective coloration to escape the laws of Nottingham town and other troublesomely inquisitive municipalities.

Nurses Met Saturday

Although the meeting of the Third District of the Nurses' Association was not largely attended by nurses outside of Dixon because of the rigorous weather, the session held Saturday in the Y. M. C. A. was one productive of helpful hints and proved very interesting to those who were there. The next meeting of the association will be held in Rockville in April. The state convention, it was announced, will be held in Rockford in November.

Considerable business was transacted at this session. Included in the business was the election of a secretary of the organization, Miss Wray of Rockford.

The addresses, because of the small attendance, were abandoned at this meeting, but later it is hoped that States Attorney Edwards and Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Der Kinderen will be able to give the talks they had prepared.

Miss Vada Hill of North Dixon added much to the interest of the session by a delightful reading.

Among topics discussed during the afternoon was the very pertinent one of Red Cross work, the present condition of affairs making the discussion especially interesting. It seems that Freeport has a Red Cross chapter, as does Rockford. Dixon has none and the formation of one was brought up, but nothing definite was done. A member of the association from Rockford gave a particularly interesting account of the work done there for the soldiers in Europe, especially for those in the battle field of France.

The nurses adjourned for luncheon, which was served at four o'clock at the Chocolate Shop, and proved a very pleasant close to the afternoon.

Pink and White Luncheon

Mrs. D. C. Rolph entertained with a pink and white luncheon on Friday the members of the City Altz Club. The affair was a delightful one and largely attended by the members. Fancy work and social chat busied the guests until the serving of the luncheon late in the afternoon. The dome over the table was shaded in pink, pink and white dishes of a quaint old pattern were used, and white narcissus blossoms in a vase, surrounded by pink hearts, formed the centerpiece of the table. Candle sticks of crystal with pink candles were placed here and there on the table. The faintest of lunches was served.

Plan Valentine Card Party

Ladies of the G. A. R. Dixon Circle No. 73, met in regular session Monday afternoon. The attendance was good and a great deal of business was transacted. Three candidates were balloted upon. Among other business the planning for a Valentine card party, to be held Friday evening of this week in G. A. R. hall, was carried on enthusiastically. Refreshments will be served. This party, which will open at 8 o'clock in the hall, is for the public, to whom an invitation is cordially extended.

The wedding will be a Valentine's ceremony, occurring as it does on the 14th of February. A three course luncheon was served to the fourteen guests present. Sweet peas were the flowers used on the table, which was otherwise decorated with crystal candlesticks bearing pink candles, while above the table, the pink and white shaded dome held its shower of hearts and cupid. The announcement was made at the close of the luncheon when pink silk bags found at each place as favors, were opened, freeing a tiny black cat, bearing the names of Miss Lievan and Mr. McCleary with the date of the event, and the secret was out.

ILLINOIS GUARDSMEN EXPECTED TO ENLIST

Stimulus of Patriotism to Overcome Peace Time Reluctance.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Feb. 6.

Illinois will be at the front when needed. No sooner had the war cloud appeared over the nation than the state's military arm began to get ready for action.

Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson rushed back to Springfield from Washington, where he had been in consultation with Secretary of War Baker and other war department chiefs.

The adjutant general went to Washington before the break in diplomatic relations with Germany. For several weeks the status of the national guard of the state has been giving the state and national authorities food for thought.

Refusal of men who served on the Mexican border after being called out by the President to take the oath that would put them back in the militia, where they were when mobilization orders came, promised to disrupt the state's fighting units and make it necessary to reorganize much of the militia. The adjutant general has been in Washington threshing out this question.

Patriotism, however, is expected to bring the Illinois boys back into line if they are needed. While many would not care to reenlist for service in the militia, believing they have done their duty in that regard, all probably would rush back to the colors if they believed their country in danger.

IMMIGRATION BILL PASSES OVER VETO

Senate Follows House and Measure Becomes Law.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The senate by a vote of 62 to 19 repassed the immigration bill over the veto of the President, despite the warning from the state department that the Asiatic exclusion section might result in disturbing amicable relations with Japan. The measure, containing the literacy test fought over for twenty years and vetoed by three presidents, now becomes a law.

Previous to the vote, Senator Lodge of the foreign relations committee declared the bill in no way affected the Japanese agreement regarding immigration from that country.

Thirty-four Democrats voted to overcome the veto, and but eleven voted against. Twenty-eight Republicans voted with the majority while eight voted to uphold the President.

THREE SHIPS ARE TORPEDOED

British Steamer Is Sent Down Without Warning.

London, Feb. 6.—The British steamer Hurstwood, of 1,229 tons, was torpedoed without warning. Three men were killed by the explosion and three seriously injured, two of whom died after the crew was landed.

The British steamer Isle of Arran, of 1,918 tons, has been sunk by a submarine, two of her crew being injured by shell fire. Lloyds shipping agency announces. The Russian four-masted bark Garnet Hill, of 2,272 tons gross, Lloyds reports, is also believed to have been sunk.

PHILADELPHIA SAFE IN PORT

Vessel and Three Other American Ships Escape Danger.

New York, Feb. 6.—With the safe arrival at Liverpool of the American Line steamship Philadelphia and Finland, and the arrival here from Liverpool of the St. Paul, only two American passenger ships are now at sea—the Kroonland, which sailed from Liverpool Jan. 31, and the New York, which left the same port Feb. 3.

Mobilizing German Diplomats.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Arrangements are being made for all German consuls and consular officials in the United States to accompany Count Bernstorff and the German embassy staff out of the country. The whole party—more than 300 in all—probably will go via Cuba and Spain.

American Sailor Slain in Diver War.

London, Feb. 6.—The British steamer Evestone, of 1,791 tons, has been sunk and the captain and four members of the crew killed. It is officially announced that Richard Wallace, an American seaman belonging at Baltimore, was killed in the shelling of boats which left the sinking Evestone.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF, ACHING JOINTS

Rub Soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of Old St. Jacobs Oil

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub well, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia. Limber up! Get a 25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

ROAD BUILDERS FACE PROBLEM

(By United Press)

Boston, Feb. 5.—Chief among the problems up for settlement at the annual convention of The American Road Builders' association, which met here today, is the development of a road that heavy motor trucks cannot tear to pieces.

Motor trucks have played havoc with all kinds of roads throughout the country and D. B. Goodsell, who has made an exhaustive study of materials in this connection, will tell what he thinks about it and afterwards the problem will be discussed by the convention in open session

ON TRIAL TODAY

(By United Press)

Murray, Ky., Feb. 5.—With the trial of Lube Martin, negro, scheduled to begin here today, local authorities were wondering whether the remarkable oratorical powers of Governor A. O. Stanley would again be necessary to keep him from being lynched.

Martin is charged with the murder of Guthrie Duiguid, a policeman. When his trial came up January 19 Judge Charles Bush and Deputy Smith, commonwealth attorney, agreed that the feeling against the negro was too intense for a trial at that time and had the negro spirited away. The crowd became a mob and throughout the following night threatened to dynamite the hotel where Judge Bush and Smith spent the night.

Governor Stanley rushed to Murray on a special train, declaring that the mob would have to attack the governor of Kentucky before it attacked Judge Bush and Smith. He pleaded with the mob and it finally dispersed. Special precautions were taken to guard the negro today

A WOMAN'S VOCATION.

One of our modern writers has said: "A woman is as efficient in business as a man—when she is."

The reason why sometimes she is not so efficient is that her health may fail. But the wise business woman knows now what to do when attacked by the ailments peculiar to the so-called "weaker sex." That greatest of all remedies for woman's ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has been freeing women from such ailments for forty years. Try it, if you suffer from such an ailment, and insure your competency and efficiency in the business world.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain, unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep the perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them, if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Quality Plus Service Equals Leadership

THE plow you buy from us today is a very much better implement than the one we sold your grandfather. For plowing methods have changed since we fashioned the first steel share in our factory, eighty years ago.

Grandfather's GRAND DETOUR had a single bottom and was pulled by a single horse—your GRAND DETOUR has from 2 to 8 bottoms and is pulled by a tractor with the power of twenty horses.

BUT one thing has remained unchanged—the service behind the plow. That's why GRAND DETOUR walking plows led the field in Grandfather's day—why GRAND DETOUR sulky led in Father's time. And that's why GRAND DETOUR Engine Gangs lead today!

WHEN you buy a GRAND DETOUR Plow, you buy the best plow to be had, and more. With it comes the result of eighty years of plow-building experience; with it, too, comes the assurance of a life time's service and a guarantee of best results under all conditions.

NO matter what your requirements are, there's a GRAND DETOUR Plow to meet them. They come in 2 to 8 bottom sizes, with a hitch to fit every tractor, bottoms to turn over any soil. And they're equipped with every improvement in plow construction.

FOR the small tractor there's no plow like the GRAND DETOUR "Junior" 2-3, 3-4 bottoms. It is the lightest, strongest, best,—the plow of the year.

Lee County farmers can obtain repairs promptly from the factory

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

History of Oils.

For twenty centuries the oil lamp, with very little variation in general design, served the purpose of lighting interiors, from the hovel of the peasant to the palace of the king, from the cave-hidden chapel of the early Christians to the stately religious temples of medieval and modern days.

Up to the middle of the nineteenth century only oils of a vegetable and animal origin were employed. Then in 1850 James Young of Scotland introduced the mineral oils, kerosene and paraffin.

PRINCESS THEATRE

Don't fail to see the feature at the Princess tonight, "The Strength of Donald McKenzie" featuring William Russell.

The life of denizens of the woods is revealed in true colors in the Mutual Star production, "The Strength of Donald McKenzie" a five act drama. The success attained in "Sons of the Sea" and "The Highest Bid," the first of the Wm. Russell series of Mutual Star productions, have been surpassed in this last offering. The scenes laid in the mountains of California are the rugged virgin places far from the haunts of men, and for natural beauty are unequalled in motion pictures.

"NO HASTE, NO PANIC," WILSON

Law, Not Expediency, to Be Guide in Crisis.

STATEMENT ON GERMAN SHIPS

Conduct of Nation Shall Be Beyond Criticism—Will Take No Action Under Stress of Excitement Which It Would Not Be Legal to Do in Ordinary Times.

Washington, Feb. 6.—When reports that vessels had been seized by American authorities were told President Wilson he authorized this statement: "We will do nothing that he have not a clear legal right to do. When we act we will act on principles of right and not on expediency. There is no haste or panic anywhere. Here is Wilson's Policy."

While the United States awaits the issue of war or peace, President Wilson has taken steps that the conduct of the government during the tense period of waiting shall be one of calm deliberation and beyond criticism.

The American government, it was stated officially, will be very careful to see that Germany and all other foreign governments will have no just cause for complaint.

General instructions have been issued to federal government officials in all parts of the country to avoid hasty action and do nothing not strictly legal and within the province of the government.

Law is U. S. Guide. The government, it was pointed out, has no legal right to take over war-bounded merchant ships in American harbors.

Strict legal right must be the basis for the conduct of all federal officials under the announced policy of the government.

No matter what other nations may do in the present emergency, it was stated that the United States will adhere strictly to law and do nothing under stress of excitement which it would not be legal to do in ordinary times.

As outlined in the highest official quarters, the policy of the government will be to act on principle rather than on the ground of expediency. The federal authorities will be expected by President Wilson to avoid any act that might be considered questionable.

Wants No Blame for War. The President himself, it was stated, is moving without panic or haste and expects all subordinate officers of the government to do likewise. While not stated specifically, it became known that the President is particularly anxious to warn Americans generally to do nothing which might cause trouble.

He desires that every act of the United States in this super-crisis shall be done with absolute propriety.

If war comes he wants no possible blame attached to the American government or any of its officials or people.

SOLDIERS EN ROUTE HOME ARE STOPPED

Must Out of Guardsmen Is Postponed.

Houston, Tex., Feb. 6.—The Fifth Nebraska guardsmen, on their way from Llano Grande to Fort Crook, Neb., to muster out, received orders here to continue in mobilization at the fort and await further orders from the war department, according to statements of Colonel E. A. Paul, in command of the troops.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 6.—Orders for the homebound movement of the Second Wisconsin Infantry, at San Antonio, and the Fifth Maryland Infantry, at Eagle Pass, have been cancelled. The Maryland regiment Monday was to have left Eagle Pass for Baltimore. The order canceling the movement was received as that organization was enroute.

The Second Wisconsin Infantry at Camp Wilson was to have left at once for Fort Sheridan to have been mustered out.

U. S. After Copper. Butte, Mont., Feb. 6.—The officials of a local copper producing company has been apprised that the United States government addressed an inquiry to the eastern office of the company as to its ability to produce a quarter million pounds of copper. The government, it is understood, is in the market for an enormous amount of copper.

Denounces Horace Brand. Hammond, Ind., Feb. 6.—Horace Brand, editor of the Illinois Staats-Zeitung, was publicly denounced at Hammond by F. C. Miller, president of the German-American Alliance of Northern Indiana and secretary of the German-Austro-Hungarian Red Cross society, representing 25,000 Germans and Austrians, for unpatriotic acts.

VALUABLE ADVICE

Dixon Citizens Should Profit by the Following Statement

Doan's Kidney Pills were used by this Dixon resident. Their merit was shown—the story told. Now comes further evidence. The testimony is confirmed. The remedy was tested—the results lasted. Could Dixon residents demand stronger proof? It's Dixon testimony. It can be investigated.

W. Walford, blacksmith, Peoria Ave., Dixon, says: "The kidney secretions were irregular in passage. My back ached, too. I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and the pains left my back and my kidneys became regular in action." Statement given May 21, 1912.

NO TROUBLE SINCE. On January 21, 1915, Mr. Walford said: "I have had no kidney trouble at all for the past few years and I give the credit of my cure to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Walford has twice publicly recommended. Foster-McBum Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

How U. S. Ships Would Look Under German Dictum.

The above picture shows how an American liner would look if painted according to the conditions imposed in the German submarine war announcement. To insure immunity from attack the few United States merchantmen allowed in the war zone would be painted in alternate stripes of red and white on their hulls.

NAVAL AUTHORITIES SEIZE GERMAN SHIPS

Seventeen Are Taken Over in Manila Bay.

Manila, Philippines, Feb. 6.—The naval authorities seized the seventeen German merchant vessels anchored in Manila Bay. All the German crews were removed.

Naval guards were left on the vessels. Boats were sent to the German merchantmen, who were boarded one at a time. The American crews took off the Germans, who were landed in the business district, which was almost deserted at that hour.

Squads of American police met the Germans. The municipal authorities will care for the Germans who are without resources. The others will go free. American police are guarding the German consulate.

A dispatch from Manila Sunday said guards had been placed on the vessels. In addition to the seventeen merchantmen at Manila there are three German vessels at Cebu and three at Zamboanga.

LITERATURE.

Friend—Make any money on your last novel?

Author—You bet! I sold that description of the Palisades in Chapter Three to the Quickline Railroad for five thousand dollars; my tribute to the Plaster de Paris Hotel in New York, Chapter Ten, brought me three thousand dollars from the hotel people; and the United Resorts, Ltd., paid me another thousand for my rhapsody on the sunset in the Wampogog mountains, Chapter Thirty, where the hero takes her in his arms. What's left of it I think I can boil down into a short story and make a ten-spot on it.

SECOND NATIONAL TO BE CELEBRATED IN MAY

MAY 1 TO 6 INCLUSIVE CHOSEN BY FEDERAL CHILDREN'S BUREAU FOR EVENT.

URGE CO-OPERATION OF WOMEN

By Mrs. Etta R. Goodwin,
Of the Federal Children's Bureau
(Written for the United Press)

Note—Mrs. Goodwin conducts all the Baby Week correspondence for the Children's Bureau and may be addressed at Washington—Editor.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The second National Baby Week will be celebrated in the United States May 1 to 6, inclusive. My correspondence indicates that a majority of the 14,000 incorporated communities in the country will take part in it. Please don't get the wrong idea of Baby Week. It is not a sentimental outburst. It is a serious movement to popularize certain proved principles of baby care and community responsibility for baby welfare. The keynote of Baby Week campaign is co-operation. This was true of the 1916 celebration and the inquiries pouring in at the Children's Bureau today and the local plans already under way indicate that the co-operation is even more universal in this year's campaign. Of course the 2,500,000 members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs are co-operating. The General Federation and the Children's Bureau were jointly responsible for the first suggestion for a nation-wide Baby Week. The way chambers of commerce and other men's organizations of various kinds, and national associations devoted to one or another special problem, turn in and help is surprising. Most impressive is the work of the state health officials and of extension divisions of state universities and agricultural colleges. These work with state federations of women's clubs and each help in outlining special programs adapted to the conditions of an individual state and they help local celebrations in numberless ways, with lectures, exhibit material, bulletins and personal advice. Each of these agencies is equipped to make its own contribution to the campaign; the child welfare committees being organized in women's clubs of every type, the special committees studying local birth registration, the associations doing infant-welfare work, the public health officials of city and state, the state universities through the extension work, and civic organizations of various kinds.

Our correspondence indicates that they all recognize in Baby Week an unique opportunity.

PERSHING IS "HOME AGAIN"

Help Build Up This Community by Paying Your Bills So That Other Folks Can Pay Theirs.

None will deny that willful indebtedness is wrong. Nothing will hurt a man's standing in the community more than the habit of contracting small debts and letting them run on indefinitely. It is the little things, after all, that are the real test of character.

There are very few persons unable to pay almost at once the little debts they owe. When they neglect these debts they put themselves in the class with the fellow who won't pay—and few of us desire to be in the "He-Won't-Pay-His-Honest-Debts" class.

We are going to have a Pay-Up Week in this community.

In order to promote friendship, good feeling, business credit, be one of the folks that settle all bills during this period. You will be better off—even if you have to economize sharply for a short time afterward—those you pay will be better off because you will help them meet their bills, and the whole community will profit.

Start the habit during Pay-Up Week of paying your bills promptly. Such a habit will establish greater credit for you. Why, any banker will tell you a man doesn't have to be wealthy to secure a loan when he needs it. The poor man who has the reputation of paying what he owes has a better credit at the bank than the man who has greater resources but won't Pay Up. Remember the Slogan—

I'LL PAY MY BILLS SO YOU CAN PAY YOURS

ROCHELLE

Rochelle, February 2.—Bernard Shaw's, "Arms and the Man," may have been too deep for the masculine mind to fathom, for at any rate more man was excluded from the Majestic theatre, Friday afternoon, during the Rochelle Women's club production. From reports of the interpretation it is said that the ladies in the cast handled swords and pistols with surprising alacrity and appeared to be at ease in male attire. Some of the younger society women were disguised behind stage mus-taches.

The cast of characters were as follows: Raina—Miss Louise Brundage. Catherine—Mrs. Walter E. Kiltner. Louka—Miss Lulu Bain. Bluntschli—Mrs. Paul L. Lazier. Sergius—Miss Lelan Cobb. Petkoff—Mrs. T. G. Southworth. Nicola—Mrs. Lester D. Leonard. The scene of the play is laid in Bulgaria at the conclusion of the war with Serbia, and the action takes place in the house and garden of Petkoff, a simple minded and very inexperienced soldier, but young and impetuous. Whether he is really brave is a question. Bluntschli is a Swiss, a professional soldier, experienced in war and a man of affairs, quite lacking in sentimentality but not without capacity for romance.

Nicola is the old and tried servant of the household, and a shrewd philosopher. He is offset by Louka, who scorn's her servant's position. Raina is the sentimental, highly romantic young woman who meets in Bluntschli an entirely new sort of man. Catherine is Petkoff's wife and Raina's mother, also romantic, and very enthusiastic over deeds of daring.

The play was exceedingly well interpreted and produced under the able direction of Mrs. A. W. Guest.

"Baby Talk" Rebuked.

"Jack, look at the nice bow-wow," said a mother to her three-year-old son, out for a walk. Jack looked as directed, then up at his mother, and said solemnly, "I said that a dog."

U.S. SHOULD TAKE OVER WIRELESS PLANTS

By Franklin D. Roosevelt,
Assistant Secretary of U. S. Navy
(Written for the United Press)

Washington, Feb. 6.—As a measure of safety the United States Government should assume control of every wireless station in this country, except those engaged in purely intra state business, at once. Control of wires and cables is simple, but wireless messages are easily intercepted with by outsiders. There should be government ownership of all wireless apparatus in peace as well as in war time, as a matter of public policy. We shouldn't let this matter wait until trouble is upon us.

The suggestion has been made to Congress and is based fundamentally upon the character of wireless telegraphy. In land telegraph lines and submarine cables each separate wire sends its own messages and does not interfere with the sending of messages on other wires. The location and existence of these wires and cables is a matter which can be determined almost in a moment's notice. The control of these is an easy matter from the military or naval point of view.

Wireless is entirely different. The sending and receiving machinery is small and readily concealable and the actual transmission of the message is through the waves of the air. This means, of course, that interference between messages increases necessarily with the matter of message sent unless a perfect system with a control is initiated. The increase in the number of installations all over the United States has been greater than the development of science in respect to non-interference and the result is growing confusion.

Quite aside from the general question of the advisability of establishing a Government monopoly, the considerations in favor of Government operation of wireless far outweigh any possible disadvantages.

Central control has been demonstrated to be a necessity; it cannot be carried out successfully except by actual Government operation and, more important still, the military and naval requirements are such that it would be unsafe, speaking in a broad sense, to wait until after a declaration of war before taking over or closing up hundreds of thousands of small individual pri-

The only way by which real safety can be assured is for the Government to exercise this control in times of peace also.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY IS THOROUGHLY MARKED

(By H. C. Ostermann, Field Secretary The Lincoln Highway Association)

We question whether, at the present time, there is a subject of greater importance to the promoters of motor travel than sign posting. Good road surface is, of course, primarily essential, while adequate hotel accommodations are no less important. But, in our opinion, the liberal and intelligent employment of road signs along the route does more to please the average tourist than the most elaborate of expensively printed information can do.

The motorist of today is no longer satisfied to travel with his eyes glued to a book or card, he does not want to be bothered to find his road by the means of detailed route cards and road books, and the extensive travel during the past year over the splendidly marked route of the LINCOLN HIGHWAY has done much to show the American tourist that it is not necessary to do so. He wants to look around and see something of the country he is driving through, and desires little more than a simple itinerary with names of the villages and towns traversed with mileage, and a clear outline map of the route.

These, together with plain and prominent road signs where necessary, enable the motorist to follow his road without losing the scenic attractions of the tour.

The fact that LINCOLN HIGHWAY is marked throughout is one of the strongest points in its favor and appeals strongly to the prospective motor travelers.

Hats That Herald the Spring

The stores and shops are full of gay springtime millinery for the southern tourist. These hats are so alluring that even those who stay at home are tempted to throw judgment to the winds and indulge themselves in a demi-season hat of satin or satin and straw. It isn't a bad idea—even with the thermometer lingering near the zero mark—if the choice is a representative spring style. Easter comes early this year.

Any one of the three hats pictured is a safe investment. At the center a hat of black silk with a red burning question. Button, button. "Who's got the button?" has been answered. As many as six dozens of them are set close together about brim-edges and crowns at the top and bottom. This is a sally with an up-standing edge that makes the best possible place for covered buttons. It is very colored and finished looking, and has a flat applique trimming of embroidery at the front.

The modest turban at the left is very good style, with satin crown and braid trim. It happens to be in black, but would look well in French blue or any of the dark colors. A crisp bow at the side looks like a butterfly and lends animation to this model, which would be too severe without it. At the right, one of the new high-crowned models is made up along lines that are new this season. Satin and braid are combined in covering the shape, with the braid extending from the upper brim to the side crown. But three-quarters of the crown is of satin, and this hat is shown made up in braid and georgette crepe. It has a flat collar of narrow ribbon, held in place by long stitches of heavy silk thread. A fan-shaped ornament at the front is brightened with colored beads, and three ends of ribbon depend from it.

These are demi-season hats of careful design, but the approach of spring is heralded in them.

ONIONS AS A MEDICINE

Every family should be supplied with a quantity of onions for winter use, not alone for their medicinal value as food, but for their positive value to relieve pain. As a remedy for earache we know of no home remedy so potent to relieve the pain as onion juice. To prepare, wrap a large onion in heavy paper, wet thoroughly, then roast in hot ashes, afterward extract the juice and put a drop or two of it in the patient's ear; it will quickly give relief. Onion juice may be kept tightly corked in a bottle and is thus ready for instant use.

For cold in the lungs an onion poultice is unsurpassed: slice thin, salt and pepper well, and fry in lard, spread on a clean cloth and apply hot as can be borne, putting a thin cloth between.

A good cough syrup is made by slicing half a dozen large onions and cooking them in a quart of vinegar, then strain the juice, add a pint of white sugar and boil until reduced to a pint. Bottle and keep for use; one teaspoonful every hour or two, according to the severity of the cough, is to be taken. A syrup could be made quickly by slicing onions thin, sprinkling with sugar and letting stand a few minutes, a syrup will be extracted that is very beneficial in croupy attacks, or for adults when suffering from colds, coughs, etc.

Onions are an excellent antidote for bites or stings of poisonous insects. Apply a slice of onion to the wound, changing often; in a short time the pain is gone. Onions are a powerful absorbent and are recommended for internal tumors. They are to be eaten either cooked or raw. Onions should be a goodly part of the winter supply of vegetables for family use, as they add much to the health of the family.

In an emergency it is well to have a roll of old soft flannel in case of rheumatic attacks or sore throat. A piece of cotton batting should be kept handy in case of toothache or burns; also, old handkerchiefs, too, are handy for mustard plasters. Ground mustard should be kept in readiness in case of pneumonia or pleuritic attacks; a prompt application of mustard has saved lives in attacks of two last-named diseases, and should be used when first symptoms of these diseases appear, and before the physician arrives. Every mother of a family should keep an "emergency box," so that articles wanted can be found at a moment's notice.

A Galley o' Fun!

THE INDISPENSIBLE.

I can see how the woman got on, in a way.

In the Garden of Eden, and after the exit:

There was plenty of fig leaves, and others au fait.

And the birds set the fashion and she could annex it.

And the pines furnished needles by bushels and bins.

But how did she work without safety-pins?

When she started to dress for a show or a dance.

And the needles broke loose, and her man in a hurry!

Or awl! in the waltz, and a rip—and a glance!

With a whirlwind of Oh's! and of fluster and scurry!

And the ladies all whispered, and the men smothered grins.

And what did she do, without safety-pins?

And when Abel, and Cain, and your Sethie broke in

With a chorus of yells and a day-and-night riot.

It must have been something ap-proaching a sin

To see the poor kids without com-fort or quiet.

And how did she fix 'em, in singles or twins?

Oh! what did she do without safety-pins?

HER MISTAKE.

"And she didn't think she would like golf at all!"

"No. She had a strange idea that plaids would not become her."

MALE CONVERSATION.

(As set forth by Mamie Sadie Grace in Magazine Stories.)

"Say, you old ass!"

"Now, look here, you blithering idiot!" (Helping himself to one of my cigars.)

"Now you know very well, you old butt-head—"

"Anybody but a blockhead like you—"

"Why, you infernal idiot!"

"You conceited puppy!"

"Why, you mutton-headed jackass!"

"Now you know that's a whopper!"

"I say, that was devilish shabby!"

"O, you silly jackanapes!"

The word "silly" is never omitted from masculine conversation in magazine stories. Nor is the word "whopper." There must be, also, personal violence and abuse of property rights.

WITH APOLOGIES TO HENRY.

This was the forest primeval. The murmuring pines and the hemlocks, Flamed an unextinguished, in coats of shel-lace and new varnish.

Stand like Chippendale "highboys," with dainty lingerie coverlets;

Stand—full of backshot (for worms, holes), with drawers brass-handled and polished.

Loud, from the long-distance tele-phone, the deep-voiced, persistent dealer

Calls in accents decisive after the monthly installment.

THE STATESMAN.

Like some high crag, broad-based, with brow of stone

That parts the clouds, nor from the tempest shrinks,

He stands, self-praised, self-centered, and alone,

And seems at times to think we think he thinks.

TOO MUCH 'CHARGE'

This Handy Way of Buying Often Cause for Those Sleepless Nights of Worry.

WHAT ONE DOLLAR WILL DO

Every Person Realizes Part Credit Plays in Commerce and Bad Re-sult of Unpaid Bills—So Pay-Up Yours Now.

The Practice of having a "Pay Up week" each year has taken well all over the country—and it has now be-come a national habit to consider the importance, in a business sense, of a Pay Up week.

Too many of us get in the habit of having things "charged." It is so handy, so convenient—seems like get-ting things without pay. We are all inclined to feel that we are going to have much more money some other day than we find in our pockets today.

The reason that Pay Up week takes so well is because it has been found of inestimable help to the world of credit. One of the principal slogans used for the occasion has come to be: "I'll Pay My Bills, So You Can Pay Yours." A moment's reflection will show what a splendid thing this is. Think of how many times a single dol-lar may turn over in a single day, with a practice like this.

You may owe the jeweler a dollar for repairing a clock; and the jeweler may owe the shoemaker a dollar for repairing his shoes; and the shoe-maker may owe the butcher a dollar for the last bacon he got; and the butcher may owe the tinner a dollar for the last garbage he bought; and the tinner may owe the clothier for a shirt; and the clothier may owe the druggist for a bottle of medicine; and the druggist may owe you a dollar—so, don't you see, you get back your dollar—and what a wonderful lot of debts it has paid in the meantime, and you still have it.

And you can go on for yourself in this line, showing the illimitable good that a "Merry Dollar" can do in a day, by paying neglected bills. Every thinking person realizes the part that credit plays in modern commercialism and the beneficial result of unpaid bills. Credit has been so abominably abused that every business man and citizen feels the drag of the heavy credit load he is forced to carry.

Hurrah for "Pay Up Week."

Catch Fish by Wagon Loads.

SAND PRAIRIE, ILL., Feb. 5.

Farmers are taking great numbers of fish from streams, some of them hauling wagon loads to market. The fish swim up to the warm waters of the springs for air, the ponds being frozen over thickly and then thus are caught easily.

Having the Charm of Simplicity

To design gowns that will suit the taste of the debutante and be suited at the same time to her youth, is something of a problem. Most very young women wish to clothe themselves in styles considerably too mature for them. This is like putting a dainty watercolor in a heavy overwrought gold frame. But mothers must emphasize and bring home to their daughters the charm of youth, which is best expressed in frocks that at least have the appearance of simplicity.

A pretty taffeta frock well suited to the young girl is shown in the accompanying picture. It is a demure, Quakerish-looking affair with only parallel rows of cords set in the bodice and skirt to relieve it of entire plainness. The skirt is plain and straight and is gathered to the bodice. The giraffe is made of the silk and tied in a knot with two ends, at the front. A plain organdie collar with hemstitched hem finishes the neck. This might be replaced by a collar of the less expensive laces, but to no special advantage, for the collar of organdie has the same style and character as the gown.

Dresses similar in style are made with a slightly raised waistline and worn without a giraffe. In these the bodice usually buttons down the front, while in the model picture the fastening is on the shoulder and along the underarm.

Dainty Shoes.

Footwear is growing more and more dainty. Shoes of silk are embroidered with gold and silver thread.

New Sweaters.

Keeping up with sweaters is a serious proposition. A new model is made of two colors, one above and the other below the waistline. Sometimes a wide decorative band is used at the bottom.

Heart Affects Handwriting. According to an English scientist there is an individuality in heart beats affecting the handwriting to such a degree that it can be identified when writing is magnified.

Here's a Suggestion. "Mebbe times wouldn't seem so tryin'," said Uncle Eben, "if day could put some sport into de game of livin' an' give a cup or a medal or sumpin' foh de champion economizer."

WOMEN WEARS
BEST CLOTHES

WIFE WEARS THE STUNNING
TOGS BUT HUSBY IS THE REAL SPORT

By Margaret Mason
(Written for the United Press)
Hist! This is the song that the husbands now hear:
"Oh Honey! the sport togs are lovely this year.
"I prithee invest.
"So I will be dressed
"In a manner befitting my station.
Some gear
"It takes for each sport
"So be a good sort
"And hand out the largesse
"That's really you're forte."
He does. When he's finished
Believe me it's true
Though she's dressed for the part
He's the best sport of two.

New York, Feb. 3.—Behold the Lilies of the field, the Roses of the beach, the Daisies of the golf links, the Violets of the tennis court, the Frises of the motor course—they tell not (only exercise a little) neither do they spin (except in a hollow-voiced or a Ford) yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed as one of these.

Never have sport suits, frocks and accessories been more bewilderlingly beautiful. The windows are full of them already for Southern exposure at Palm Beach and like havens, where the fortunate few. We stand gazing upon their glories rapt in admiration and our heaviest furs.

In slush ankle deep, while wintry winds do blow we can still visualize how we will look in that glorious turquoise pongee one-piece frock handed in golden yellow this summer if we are lucky enough to save enough pennies for it. There is a ducky hat with turquoise parasol to match, whose inner side is a mass of tiny puttings and shirrings of the yellow figured border. All up-to-date 1917 model parasols are wearing their ornate trimmings inside and a closed parasol is a closed book. Only when opened does it disclose its glories to an admiring multitude.

Unusual and Oriental are the color combinations used to band and trim the sport suits and one-piece frocks but always are they hectic to the highest degree.

A stunning new sport silk like a heavy pongee called Khaki Kool is the favored material and it comes in daring and unusual designs and all the vivid colorings.

Sport skirts of this material are striped in vivid colors as they were last year but this season too they will be easily spotted with polka dots as large as life and twice as colorful.

Hats, parasols, stockings, shoes, handkerchiefs and bags are all gotten up to match and carry out a complete costume effect. Among the lovely new silk sweaters a lettuce green one banded, sashed and sailor collared in white is perhaps the loveliest, but a two-toned sweater coat in checker-board pattern that comes in two shades of blue, yellow, rose, or green and black and white is also a stunning novelty.

Cerise, green and gold seem to be the most taking trio of dials for the one piece straight line sport dresses but they all have some other vivid dash of contrasting color to startle and attract.

Jersey cloth still continues to hold its popularity over from last year into this for sport suits and a new material called suedeene is also very good. For motor coats of spring suede cloth is the material de luxe with linings of softest, brightest silk or chiffon cloth. They are much shorter than the winter coats and so full and loose as almost to be mistaken for capes at the first fleeting glance as they dash by on up-to-date maids in up-to-date motors.

But don't for a minute think it necessary to go in for sports in order to sport these sporty sport togs. Indeed nay, no and likewise never. This summer you will find that these deliciously delectable duds will be worn anywhere and every-where from a pink tea to the village green.

Grecian Dolls.

As one might expect, the little Greek girls had beautiful dolls. They were made of clay and wax and decorated with bright colors. They had beautiful garments which could be put on and taken off at will, and some of them were made to represent the gods and heroes so much revered by the people. They were not stiff creatures, but had movable limbs.

SOME CURIOUS CHURCHES

Marvelous Cathedral of Moscow—Chapels on Russian Trains.

One of the most extraordinary and fantastic Christian places of worship in the world is the cathedral of Moscow, strange not only in outline and conception, but even stranger in its history.

No one knows the architect's name, but the story goes that the czar ordered his eyes to be put out directly after the church was completed so that he should never be able to surpass his work.

The idea of the building, says a writer in the Strand, was inspired by the wickedest and maddest monarch who ever sat on a throne—Ivan the Terrible, czar of Muscovy.

The church is known as Vasilii Blajenni, or Blessed Basil, and is named after a half-witted vagrant monk who for some strange reason was almost the only person in the empire that the czar feared.

Although every one else trembled before Ivan, Vasilii Blajenni would flout him, call him "Ivashka," or "Bad little Ivan," and, most daring thing of all, would try to protect the victims of the czar's fury. He and another friar of the same caliber named Ivan the Idiot are buried in two memorial chapels beneath the cathedral.

The architecture is in every respect extravagant and barbaric and the coloring is garish in the extreme. It has nine chapels, roofed by nine cupolas, each different and each stranger than the other. One resembles a pineapple, another a melon, a third is said to ape a hedgehog in its appearance, and the rest are more or less grotesque. Some are gilt, others are painted in brilliant hues.

Indeed the only description is that it is a nightmare of a church, the fitting legacy of a ruler who grilled his counselors in frying pans and clothed his subjects in bearskins in order that trained dogs might worry and tear them to pieces.

Another freakish place of worship is the church of the Holy Trinity at Baura, in upper Austria. It is built in the form of a triangle and stands on a little hill approached by a winding ascent. If you examine it you will find that everything possible has been done to glorify and commemorate the Three in One.

It has three fronts, three towers, three doors and three windows. Inside there are three altars, three organs and three sacristies. The walls are decorated with three different kinds of marble, and the church cost 333,333 florins to build.

Among other luxuries on the trains of the Trans-Siberian railway are chapels, which are attached to the principal expresses. Priests travel with these moving churches. The chapels are quite elaborate, paneled with beautiful woods, lavishly decorated and gilded. They are intended not alone for the use of passengers, but at an appointed hour on Sundays the train halts at a wayside station and the peasants living in the neighborhood flock to the service.—New York Sun.

Words of Wisdom.

I do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep on doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.—Lincoln.

We live too much in the outward, in driving toil without spiritual renewal. We need to learn the wisdom of reinforcing the inner vitality by nourishing the roots of faith and principle. Our souls need rest, that in secret prayers divine communion shall nourish the inner life of the spirit.—Rush R. Shippen.

Whether we will or no, the greater part of life is passed alone; and oh, how much depends on the upward guidance of solitary thought.—Liddon.

Live, as if were, on trust. All that is in you, all that you are, is only loaned to you. Make use of it according to the will of Him who lends it; but never regard it for a moment as your own.—Fenelon.

It may be thou dost not love thy neighbor; it may be thou thinkest only how to get from him, how to gain by him. How lonely, then, must thou be! how shut up in thy poverty stricken room, with the bare walls of thy selfishness and the hard couch of thy unsatisfaction!—George MacDonald.

Our best moments are not departures from ourselves, but are really the only moments in which we have been ourselves.—Phillips Brooks.

Character and choice go hand in hand. Where there is preference for good, there the thing done reacts upon the door, fashions itself into a readiness, becomes a joy and a renovation of the whole nature. A grumbling, reluctant virtue has no formative effect.—B. H. Alford.

Ian MacLaren, who died recently, was talking to a group of literary beginners in New York. "Begin your stories well," he said emphatically. "There's nothing like a good beginning. Indeed, its half the battle. Always bear in mind the case of the young man who, desiring to marry, secured a favorable hearing from his sweetheart's irascible father by opening the interview with the words: 'I know a way, sir, whereby you can save money.'"

Love that seldom grows old is the love of money.

Veracity.

Veracity is a term which must be regarded as including something more than the simple avoidance of direct falsehood.—Lecy.

Novel One-Piece Promenade Dress

One of the developments of the one-piece dress, which makes of it a good model for the promenade, is shown in the accompanying photograph. It looks like a plaited skirt of silk jersey, with a plain coat suggestive of a sweater, but its looks are misleading. It is a one-piece garment, and it might be made in serge, gaberdine, or any pliable woolen goods. Like so many others, it bears the imprint of sports styles in the straight lines of the body, in the long girdle which is wrapped easily about the waist, and in the patch pockets.

This is one of those designs which are adapted to almost any color. It has a number of novel finishing touches that give it a distinction which will match up with the peculiar shades of green and the beautiful blues that have captivated everybody. But whatever color is chosen must be used throughout. The ties at the throat, of broadened ribbons, furnish all the contrast needed.

Julia Bottomley

Real Welcome.

"By exercising a little judgment," said Uncle Eben, "a man dat chops wood an' shovels snow kin be as welcome as a regular Santa Claus."

Remember the Merchants

Did you ever stop to think that the merchants of this town are the friends of all the citizens? Day by day, week by week, year by year they give to this and that enterprise their support and encouragement and contribute more often in a material way. It is the business men who are called on to support every public movement. Therefore every citizen should support the home merchant first, last and all the time. The merchants of this town are loyal to the community and we owe them our support. They are our friends and we should be theirs. We want to remember them especially during Pay-up week.

VAILE AND O'MALLEY

Of White Batiste and Val Lace

The beginning of Lent is close at hand, bringing with it the annual assignment of time for spring sewing. The thought of provident mothers is centered on replenishing their supplies of bed linen and table linen, on the children's sewing, and on their own. All the new cotton goods are in house dresses and lingerie are to be made ready and children's clothes got out of the way, in the weeks between now and Easter. No one minds giving March to this work. And some of the work is interesting enough to tempt one to stay indoors in April—for instance, dresses for the little girls. But there is every reason for making them during Lent, leaving more leisure for enjoying the springtime.

The same fine cottons, linens and laces that have always been the choice of the most refined taste appear in the new patterns in children's dresses. There is nothing startlingly new in their design but a special emphasis seems to be given to fine and dainty needlework on them. Their trimmings are simple but of fine quality, and workmanship on them is above reproach. Even for tiny girls some of the new models have double skirts. There is a decided liking for plaits and for little coat effects.

A dress of white batiste for a girl of three is shown in the picture. It has a long waist and a full skirt, laid in boxplaits. Groups of narrow tucks, running lengthwise, alternated with two rows of narrow val insertion, are placed at each side of the opening at the back. The same decoration appears at the front of the waist. A val edging finishes the neck in a narrow ruffle. The sleeves are a little longer than elbow length, finished with a ruffle of val lace, a group of narrow tucks, and an insertion of val. All the lace is put on by hand and the small tucks are hand run. There are two rows of insertion and one of edging about the bottom of the skirt.

The sash of wide, pink brocaded ribbon is made with a flat bow at the back and is adjusted without any wringing. It lies flat about the little figure, which arrangement looks particularly well with a long-waisted model.

If time is precious there is no very good reason why this dress should not be machine sewed. It is merely "smarter" when the work is done by hand.

Millinery Ideas.

While many hats are decidedly of Oriental origin, others are suggestive of the periods of Francis I and Henry IV. They should be set straight on the head and cover it equally, not leaving one side more exposed than the other, and be brought low down on the brow, in the exact center reckoned from one side of the forehead to the other.

Normal Waistline.

The normal waistline is shown frequently on frocks of cloth and silk. Many times it is emphasized with one or two shoestring belts.

YOUNG MAN AND THE CITY JOB

There are in the United States probably something like one million young men whose eyes are directed more or less longingly toward that golden, glittering business Lorelei, the New York job. New York, with its fascinating dash and rush and buildings towering into the skies! A New York job, with its big pay and untold chances for rapid advancement and more, much more, consequent pay and glory! What an alluring combination to the young fellow dissatisfied with life on the farm; or to the young fellow discontented with the slow-moving business opportunities of his home town. What a pretty, enticing picture! But let us look on the other side.

Clerking will bring the young man anywhere from seven to ten dollars a week at the start. Eight dollars would be a very fair average estimate. And in chronicling these figures the clerkships in the average shops are chosen as standards for judging. If the young man gets a job in the wholesale houses downtown—an office job—he will be started out at about eight dollars a week, although, obviously, if he commands a knowledge of bookkeeping or stenography, his pay will start at a figure nearer twelve dollars.

Wall Street, with its lofty sound, is another lure. If the young man—a stranger—gets a job in Wall Street, he will start in about six dollars a week, although the figure may be listed at eight dollars in some instances. And the subsequent "raises" will take considerable time to reach the fifteen, to say nothing of the twenty dollar mark. There is a lot of money in Wall Street, undoubtedly—but it isn't in the young man's first job.

If one of these young men gets a job on the office staff of an insurance company he will start in at a salary of about eight dollars a week, this figure, too, being a fair initial criterion of the remuneration he will receive from similar jobs with other big companies. A job with an engineering firm pays not more than from six to ten dollars a week at the start, but if the young man has ability his opportunity for advancement to twenty dollars a week will be open and comparatively easy. Again, in this case, the young man with an engineering education is not considered. If the applicant obtains a job in a lawyer's office he will receive eight or ten dollars a week.—Harper's Weekly.

Nature's Wonderful Paint Brush.

Nature paints in the most striking colors and shades and tints with a delicacy never achieved by the brush in the hands of the artist. The highest ambition of the manufacturer of paints is to produce colors which look like nature's. They have never succeeded. Grass has a green of its own. So has the leaf and so has the distant ocean. None of these has ever been reproduced and put in cans with a price label on them.

Winter apples now repose on the shelves of the paint chemists. Honor awaits the man who can combine colors to produce the tints of red of the Baldwin and Northern Spy. They come pretty near it, that is all. The same is true of the colors with which October first touches the maple leaf.

If all the paint grinding works in the world were multiplied ten thousand times they couldn't turn out pigment enough in a year to do what nature does in a change from season to season.

Nature's brush is busy everywhere all the time. In the life of a leaf it applies the brush day by day, following with its tints from budding time until it flutters from the branch. It touches the valleys and the hills, the growing grains, the flowering plants. Never is it idle.

BUILDING PROSPERITY

The First Step Necessary Is to Settle Book Accounts.

County Ought to Make Good Showing During Pay-Up Week—No Bill Should Remain Unpaid After This Period.

Seven state associations of retail dealers in different lines of trade, representing about one-half of the total number of responsible merchants, are advising their members to prepare to follow the definite recommendations of the federal trade commission for successful and economical merchandising, and then to concentrate their efforts on endeavoring to increase the prosperity of those who trade with them.

As the public is interested in having the best service from the retail distributors, the public is invited to help start the movement.

The bankers were the first consulted and have offered to do their part. The women's clubs, civic organizations and farmers' associations are going to help, too.

As a first step the local dealers settle up their outstanding local accounts with each other and at the same time with everyone else in town and the adjoining country, including what they owe to farmers, the lawyer, the doctor, the newspaper, contractors, mechanics, etc.

In other words, if the merchants are to begin with a clean balance sheet at a given date they will have to start passing the money along to reach everyone they owe on open accounts and at the same time request others to pay them, so that all book accounts can be wiped out—everything settled up as far out as local trade reaches, either with cash or with notes.

The fact that all the neighboring towns and trading places in the county and surrounding counties will be doing the same thing simplifies the matter, as book accounts which reach back and forth for some distance into the country can be settled by the exchange of checks or notes which are good at the bank.

Everyone gains by starting fresh, ready for the next step, which promises to be even more interesting, for in addition to making the towns better trading centers, it will lead up to subjects for general improvement which should interest everyone in this county.

It is understood that an effort will be made to find how completely all the communities in the state will succeed in cleaning up their open accounts.

There is no apparent reason why the people in this county cannot make as good a showing as any county in the state.

Modern business methods and securing wholesale cash discounts make it possible to keep good stocks of merchandise and sell at lower prices. This benefits everyone and the local patronage should go to the business houses which display the campaign slogan, "I'll pay my bills so you can pay yours" and co-operate with enthusiasm. So hurrah for Pay-Up week!

AN ANCIENT SYSTEM

A hundred years ago money was scarce. Banks were scarce. Wealthy neighbors, there were none. There was no parcel post. There were no magazines, few books, no catalogues, no national advertising campaigns.

Storekeepers had to be bankers, accommodate customers who had no money till crops matured, extend credit and add the cost to the price of goods.

Times have changed. Conditions of merchandizing have changed even more than conditions of farming, and not one thing is now done on the well-managed farm as it was done 20 years ago. Even bossy cuts silage or chop while compressed air does the milking.

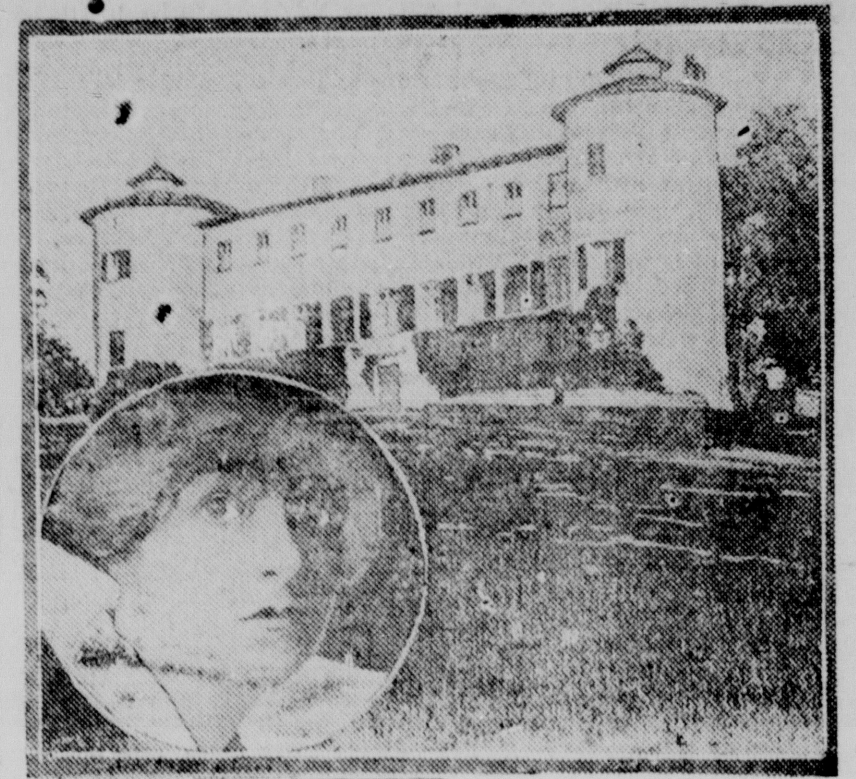

Merchants have no source of profit except quick turns of their stock of goods. If the stock is stopped by either friendship or enmity and quick turns are prevented profits become losses and tradesmen find it increasingly hard to make a decent living out of their service to their friends and neighbors.

Square up every outstanding account. Money lending institutions can sell the use of money far cheaper than merchants can sell the use of their stocks. Cut every string that holds back the stream of prosperity. Get away from the ancient system that has hurt more than ninety out of every hundred men who have started in commercial enterprises.

Colleges Boys Growing.

Measurements by scientists bring out the interesting fact that the American college athlete of today is a much larger man than his father was, and is constantly growing. The average height of the Yale athlete today is an inch and a half more than it was five years ago; he is 22 pounds heavier, with three inches more chest development and 42 cubic inches more lung capacity; the average height of the Yale athlete is now 5 feet 9.9 inches and their weight exactly 170.5 pounds. At an examination of Harvard athletes Professor Sargeant found that they were an inch taller and from four to five pounds heavier than were the students of 30 years ago.—New Bedford Mercury.

LAFAYETTE HOME IS BOUGHT BY AMERICANS.

MRS. WM. ASTOR CHANDLER

Americans making up the American committee of the French Heroic fund, headed by Mrs. Wm. Astor Chandler, have purchased the old chateau of the Marquis de Lafayette, the Chateau de Chavaniac Fayette, birthplace of the Frenchman who helped to win American independence. They will turn it into a memorial museum and home for soldiers' orphans and soldiers disabled in the war.

Safe Bet.

When the ages in a marriage license are stated as over eighteen for the bride and over twenty-one for the groom you can bet your sweet life they are considerably over.—Atchison Globe.

Dr. Backus Continues His Interesting Account Of His Experiences Abroad

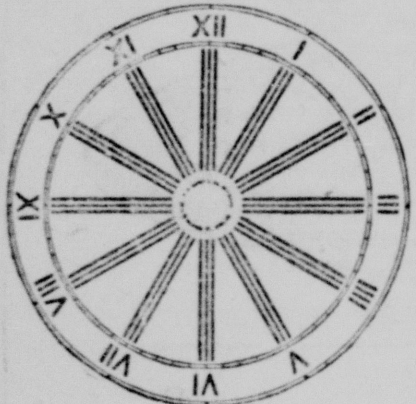

August 29th. Well, the barber has "come and went." Hoping never again to suffer the anguish and self control necessary to conceal an ardent desire to howl with glee, yet not for a good deal would the first experience be eliminated. Scarcely was I in bath robe when he appeared with a formidable kit of implements suspended in a leather case from his shoulder.

Much of our work being among the British officers and nurses, we hear many interesting stories of the war. It has seemed possible to realize the horror and extent of the terrible suffering from the newspapers but first hand tales with the actual results of the horrible gun-shot wounds of head and face before one, is the climax of understanding. The universal and interesting statement of nearly every Englishman is that "We have and are bungling horribly in this war but we will see it through, and our chance of winning is now far the best." Very modest are they all but very determined.

Nurses of the hospital ships tell me disease brings them more patients than bullets in the Mesopotamia campaign. Quickly enshrouding my material being in a tremendous white cloth he dropped to his knees, encircling me with unbelievable speed, clipping for dear life while the victim fought with determination against loss of gravity.

And He Never Smiled.

"Yes, sir, I think you'll find this'll bring your air up all right, sir. When we introduced this 'ere stuff, sir, we tried it on a bald gent with a 'ead like a egg, and, would you believe it, sir, 'e had to 'ave 'is 'air cut three times on his way 'ome. So we redoubled the strength."—London Tit-Bits.

Cover your right eye and look at the lines in the clock. If they do not appear equally black, you have astigmatism. Repeat the experiment by covering the left eye.

The card should be held 20 inches away. Use no glasses and cover first right eye, then left eye.

This is a rough test and does not reveal the intricate and "latent" defects of sight.

I am equipped with all modern devices for measuring and correcting errors of sight and for fitting superior lenses.

also stifling a haunting fear of what the resulting appearance would be. It was so novel, so entertaining and the man so skillful that I decided to indulge to the limit, so made signs for a shave which came to me without a pain or ache, quickly, skillfully and that in an ordinary chair without a bend of my head. Truly the man was a marvel.

With fear in my heart the mirror was approached on the departure of the barber with fourteen of my annas and lo and behold, it couldn't have been more tastily accomplished.

Today for the first time my friend, the wise parrot, has made up with me after many invitations. Having offered to scratch his head many times or enter into conversation (usually delighted in) to date, I had been but abused, either vocally or bitten, but after surveying me today for a full space of ten minutes as I sat reading with my cigar, said he, "Oh, all right," swung down from his perch and came as close to me as possible, grasping a bar in the beak as usual during the exquisite ceremony of head scratching. So I advanced properly, scratched vigorously, and retreated in good form, only to be invited to return. The men exhib tells old sometimes and are exceedingly wise. This fellow certainly appears to me this variety lives to be 100 years be a Solomon.

WAR SIDELIGHTS

Pittsburgh, Jan. 27.—By the way of informing the world that blunders made by exporters are the exception rather than the rule, the National Foreign Trade Council reported to the Fourth National Foreign Trade convention which will close here today that the fragmentary reports on American trade have given erroneous impressions.

The report said in part: "A situation has recently arisen affecting the reputation of American exporters which contains elements both of great good and great harm. Certain American consuls, commercial organizations and banks have done a useful service in shapely calling attention to specific derelictions on the part of Americans in export trade."

"In itself, this has done good, but it is apparent that many magazines, newspapers and individuals have made these complaints the basis for generalizations highly discreditable to all American foreign trade. The generalization is untrue. This can be proven by citing that our export manufactures nearly doubled between 1905 and 1913, a practically unparalleled expansion."

Much Too Late.

The agent marched up to the front steps and rang the door bell briskly. "Good morning," he said, bowing politely to the maid who answered his ring. "Is the lady of the house engaged?" "Not now," responded the new maid brightly. "She used to be, but she got married more than a year ago."—Christian Herald.

MOUNTAIN COLLEGE'S LINCOLN CELEBRATION

Notable Men to Gather Feb. 10 at Cumberland Gap.

STUDENTS NATION'S HOSTS

Chancellor John Wesley Hill Arranging Great Program For Twentieth Anniversary of the Lincoln Memorial University and Natal Day of Abraham Lincoln.

This year's greatest celebration of Lincoln's birthday will take place at Cumberland Gap, Tenn., where the borders of Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee come together in the midst of the Appalachians. It is to be held under the auspices of Lincoln Memorial University, and will not only commemorate the natal day of Lincoln, but will mark the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the institution named for him. The mountain students from the region in which Lincoln's early life was spent are to be the hosts to the rest of the nation and lead in paying homage to his memory. Governors, Senators, educators, captains of finance and industry will assemble for a three days' Lincoln Congress, February 10, 11 and 12.

Notable List of Speakers.

The arrangements for the celebration are in the hands of the Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor, who was recently elected to that office. He has arranged a notable programme for the Cumberland Gap celebration. The Governors of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia will make addresses of welcome, and among others who will appear in the list of speakers will be Governor McCall, of Massachusetts; Governor Cox, of Ohio; Henry Claws, Adolph Lewisohn, John Hays Hammond, former Secretary of War, Dickinson, former Secretary of the Treasury, Shaw, General Coleman DuPont, of New York; E. A. Seiberling, of Akron, O.; A. L. Garford, of Elyria, O.; Minster Koo, of China; Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago; Hon. Marcus M. Marks, Borough President of Manhattan; Senator Sherman, of Illinois; Senator Owen, of Oklahoma; Senator Watson, of Indiana; Senator Shields, of Tennessee; Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska; Senator Townsend, of Michigan; former Senator Towne, of Minnesota; ex-Speaker Cannon, of Illinois; Hon. Benjamin S. Hanchett, of Grand Rapids; Hon. Bainbridge Colby, Hon. Max Pam, of New York, and Congressmen from every state.

REV. DR. JOHN WESLEY HILL.

addresses of welcome, and among others who will appear in the list of speakers will be Governor McCall, of Massachusetts; Governor Cox, of Ohio; Henry Claws, Adolph Lewisohn, John Hays Hammond, former Secretary of War, Dickinson, former Secretary of the Treasury, Shaw, General Coleman DuPont, of New York; E. Marks, Borough President of Manhattan; Senator Sherman, of Illinois; Senator Owen, of Oklahoma; Senator Watson, of Indiana; Senator Shields, of Tennessee; Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska; Senator Townsend, of Michigan; former Senator Towne, of Minnesota; ex-Speaker Cannon, of Illinois; Hon. Benjamin S. Hanchett, of Grand Rapids; Hon. Bainbridge Colby, Hon. Max Pam, of New York, and Congressmen from every state.

Wide Range of Subjects.

The Presidents of fifteen colleges and universities will also deliver addresses. A wide range of subjects will be discussed. There will be addresses on "Lincoln and Labor," "Lincoln's Attitude Toward Capital," "Lincoln, the Friend of the South," "Lincoln and Education," "Lincoln and Arbitration," "The Religion of Lincoln," "Lincoln, the Typical American," "Lincoln, the Man of the Forest," "Lincoln's Peace Policy," "Lincoln and the Judiciary," "Lincoln and Thrift," "Lincoln and the Industrial South," "Lincoln and Emancipation," "Kentucky's Greatest Son" and "The Last Day of Lincoln." The last address will be delivered by Hon. Henry R. Rathbone, of Chicago, son of Major Rathbone, who sat in the theatre box with Lincoln on the night of the assassination.

Founded by General Howard.

Lincoln Memorial University, where the celebration will be held, was founded just twenty years ago by the late General Oliver Otis Howard of Vermont. He devoted the last twelve years of his life to the up-building of the institution, as a living memorial to his old Commander-in-Chief. The college is designed to give poor white boys and girls of the mountains a chance for an education. A large percentage of the students earn their way through the college course, literally leaving the bundles of the plough to don cap and gown to accept their degrees.

The trip to Cumberland Gap promises to prove a revelation to many of the distinguished persons who have accepted invitations to attend. It is planned to run special trains to Cumberland Gap from Washington and Chicago.

The Clear Conscience.

Every man should so live that he need not worry even when he knows that he talks in his sleep.

SPORTING NEWS

St. Paul.—A new steel slide for the competitor in the national ski tournament here has been built by the St. Paul Carnival committee, under whose auspices the event is held. Among the organizations entered is the Aurora Club of Red Wing, Minn., the first association to take up the sport in this country.

Lafayette, Ind.—Wrestling is attracting as much if not more attention than any of the indoor sports at Purdue this year. When practice began Coach Paulson believed his squad would be weak in the heavyweights class, but prospects are brighter with Jordan and Bartlett both working out daily. Rivalry in the other classes is keen. Paulson has decided upon a series of tryouts for the men so as to get a line on their ability before the opening of the conference season.

Chicago. The Central A. A. U. junior and senior indoor track and field championship games which have been awarded to the Second Illinois Infantry, will be held on March 30 and 31.

Already a considerable number of applications for entry blanks have been received from athletic clubs in Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and other states in the Central Association.

The National A. A. U. basketball championships, which also will be staged by the Second Infantry, will be held on March 15, 16 and 17. Teams from various sections of the country, including the present champions, the Salt Lake City five, are expected to compete.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Students of the University of Michigan have formed a boxing club. They hope to have several exhibition contests yet this winter, under university supervision.

Chicago: Eddie Collins, second baseman with the Chicago Americans is not in sympathy with the Baseball Players' fraternity. Neither does he regard the threat to strike seriously. Collins has a contract calling for $15,000 a year and has written friends here that he will be the happiest ball player in the country when the time to report comes.

Chicago: Many players of the Chicago Americans have declared that the strike move of the Baseball Players' fraternity will be thwarted in its incipency and a few of those who so declared themselves are members of the fraternity and already have signed their contracts. Others are signed to iron clad documents and say they see no reason to break them.

Ray Schalk and Lefty Williams, the latest members of Comiskey's aggregation to sign contracts, said they are members of the fraternity but they could see no good reason for a strike. Eddie Cicotte and Joe Benz, who have been quoted as against the strike move, are also affiliated with the fraternity.

Eddie Collins, Buck Weaver, Harry Felch and Jacques Fournier all are tied up with contracts while Jim Scott has sent word that he was anxiously awaiting the word to go to the training camp, and was not interested in the strike talk.

John Collins, the White Sox representative on the fraternity board sent a letter to Benz the other day in which he said he was enjoying himself with the baby and skating on the New England rivers, but did not mention anything about the threatened strike.

PROSPERITY

The best monument to the memory of men is not a marble shaft over their remains, but a thriving community which treasures memories of their active life. Cheerful citizens who are always finding good enterprises to be promoted and encouraging others to "come on" and get under the load of actual work—these citizens prosper, make prosperity, keep it moving and passing on to the last infant born as well as to the last grandparent living.

Best Explanation.

After all, is there any better explanation of the cause of high prices than the unavailability of judgment among certain trifling gentlemen that they need the money?

BE SURE TO PAY UP

To promote good feeling among your neighbors and acquaintances, hunt up those whom you owe money and square the account during Pay-Up Week. Don't wait on the other fellow. See him first—and liquidate.

Afterward, meet your obligations the first day of each month. If you owe more than you can pay all at one throw, pay what you can. Let your creditors know that you haven't forgotten your debts. It's only fair to them—and it's valuable to you. You are a fortunate man if your credit is A No. 1.

Pay-Up! Pay-Up! Pay-Up!

Never Out of Date.

We are inclined to smile at the quaint costumes that our grandparents wore, and at their rather stilted, formal manners. We dispense with a great many things which were considered important a hundred years ago. But patient, plodding perseverance, sticking to a thing till you finish it, is held in as high esteem in the twentieth century as it was in the eighteenth. Industry and patience are never out of date.

Outstanding Features in Spring Coats

Will a new suit be the uppermost thing in your thoughts in spring apparel, or do you intend to become a devotee of the one-piece dress and the separate coat? There is no getting away from the fact that the one-piece frock, or "the dressmaker's dress," as it is called, challenges our admiration on every side; everybody is wearing it. Likewise, just at present, everyone is covering up this graceful garment with a long coat, generous, enveloping, and becoming. Not within the memory of woman have coats been so ample and luxurious looking. It is all because they are of such soft-looking cloths and have such roomy sleeves, and, above all, such big collars.

In the new coats recently brought out for semi-season wear, collars remain extra large. There is a choice in lengths between coats that cover the dress and those that are three-quarter length. Some of them are accused of looking more like a bathrobe than anything else, with narrow girdles that are wrapped loosely about the figure. A few of them are pocketless, but the others make up for it with pockets of such size and pronounced style that all pockets that have gone before become insignificant.

In the coat shown in the accompanying picture the collar and the pockets are very conservative as to size, but the cuffs go to any length in asserting the generosity of things in coats.

It is of soft, heavy broadcloth. You may select it in one of the lovely shades of gray or perhaps in French blue, but you are more likely to buy it in a darker shade.

The collar is of the cape variety that looks so cozy when brought up about the neck. It is embellished with two bands of velvet, and similar bands appear on the cuffs. This is a girlhood model—the skirt set on to the body with a velvet piping. Two rows of small buttons make an admirable finish at the back, and the conical pockets are modestly satisfied with only one button each. This is altogether a very quiet garment, but if you want something else there are others in deep orange color or with other startling outstanding features.

HUGE RIVER CARCOES

Few persons who have not actually seen the massive tows which descend the Ohio and Mississippi rivers have an adequate idea of the magnitude of the steadily increasing commerce that is there carried on or of the cargoes that are handled by the shallow-draft stern-wheel steamers.

Along the rivers of western Pennsylvania and West Virginia the 1,000-ton wooden barges are loaded and made up into rafts. When the river is high enough to give good "coalboat water"—a clear channel of eleven feet or more—these are rushed out of the shallower part of the Ohio and gathered along the bank, either above or, preferably, below the falls at Louisville. If the river is very high the tows are made up at Pittsburgh and sent through entire, going over the dams and falls without trouble. Generally barges loaded with manufactured iron, such as cotton-bale ties, railway rails, barbed wire, nails and structural steel, are incorporated into the rafts.

Into one end of the mass of barges the stern-wheeled towboat thrusts her nose. Great cables are then carried across from the outer corners and from many other points and lashed to the steamer until the whole is rigid, and the start for New Orleans is made. The progress of the tow is generally little more than that of the current—from four to nine miles an hour. In long, straight reaches of the river the steamer gets behind the tow and pushes it along; but for the most part a very skillful pilot is kept busy "banking" the barges round bend after bend.

The current of the Mississippi sets into the outside of every bend, and crosses from the foot of one into the head of another, which tends to force the tow against the bank in each case. The steamer, by backing and swinging and going ahead, puts itself on the side of the tow away from the bank, and holds the tow away. Then, swinging slowly round the stern as the whole moves over the crossing, it repeats the operation in the opposite direction in the reverse bend.

The most skillful piloting is necessary, as a slight grounding of a part of the tow on the end of a bar will often throw the whole mass hard aground and cause heavy loss. For safety it is customary to tie up at night; but in the case of the Sprague, mentioned below, it was tied up but five hours between Louisville and Vicksburg, making the 500 miles between these cities in eight days.

One of the largest cargoes ever handled by a single steambot was successfully manoeuvred down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers from Louisville and distributed below Vicksburg by the Sprague. It consisted of 45,000 tons of coal, loaded in forty-six huge wooden flatboats, all lashed tightly together and to the steamer. The tow covered an area of five acres, and was as large as half a dozen Atlantic liners side by side.

FORTUNES MADE FROM WASTE

What Science Has Done with Products Regarded as Worthless.

One of the wonders of modern science is the manner in which products hitherto regarded as worthless have been turned to such good account that they have earned fortunes for manufacturers and provided employment for thousands of workers. It is not so many years ago that gas makers were glad to give away coal tar in order to get rid of it. It was regarded merely as waste and of no value. Then science discovered its use for making dyes, how it could be turned into a valuable antiseptic, such as carbolic acid, and ultimately it proved an important factor in the invention of the smokeless powders and powerful explosives which have made modern warfare so terrible.

About the same time that the value of coal tar was discovered an effort was being made to utilize a thick, evil-smelling liquid, a by-product of the soap boiling industry, which had thrown away as useless. Ultimately this substance was collected and refined, the result being glycerine and a fortune.

Perhaps some of the most astonishing discoveries was that by which the grime washed from the sheep's fleece was made to yield many thousands of pounds. Some observant individual discovered that a certain amount of potash was absorbed by sheep as they chewed the meadow grass. This potash circulates through the system, and eventually exudes through the skin and adheres to the wool. In cleaning the wool, this mixture of dirt and potash was recklessly washed away. Nowadays, however, wool-cleaning establishments retain the water and employ chemists to remove the potash for further chemical use. It is estimated that no fewer than 2,200,000 pounds of potassium carbonate is made from the potash thus saved in the mills and securing establishments of France and Belgium.

Little is wasted nowadays in the cotton and silk industries, although at one time the outside and inside husks of cocoons were regarded as mere refuse. Now, however, the working up of waste fibres has been so perfected that very little of the raw material is thrown away. Velvets and plushes are now made from short fibres, which were at one time regarded as mere waste.

The same story could be told of cotton. Nearly all cotton rags, as well as linen rags, are respun. Although much cotton waste finds its way to the paper maker, the time is not far distant when, like flock and shoddy, even short cotton fibres will be worked over again for textiles. As it is, the waste of cotton mills is employed for the making of matting and wadding and of carpet linings.

By the way, how many people are aware that it was quite by accident that the late Sir Titus Salt, who made an enormous fortune out of manufacturing alpaca, founded his wealth on waste? He bought up a lot of nondescript hair wool which was regarded as mere rubbish, for it was practically useless for spinning. Sir Titus bought the material for a mere song, and after numerous experiments produced alpaca from what had hitherto been regarded as waste material.

Talking of cotton spinning reminds one that at first the cotton masters used to fling away the steel spindles which they were worn out, afterward selling them by the ton for old iron. One day, however, some one hit upon the idea of grinding one end down into a wedge, and thus it came about that the waste spindles, which used to be sold for next to nothing, now fetch a good price from manufacturers of tools, who make screw-drivers and other tools out of them.

Miles We Dance Unknowingly.

A dance is better than a card party and a barn dance is better than a similar function in the house, considered from the viewpoint of health. The blood begins to circulate a little faster immediately a dance is started and the heart has a little more work to do. There is, therefore, greater need for fresh air, to the end that the blood passing through the lungs may be properly oxygenized.

Sixteen numbers, such as appear on the cards at "hops," carry the dancers over a greater distance in actual miles than soldiers parade on Memorial Day. Four dances are equal to a drill night in an army.

In Dundee, Scotland, where the Caledonians are enthusiastic devotees of the dance, a statistician counted the steps in a dozen different kinds of dances. As a result it is shown that an average waltz takes a dancer over three-quarters of a mile; a square dance makes him cover a half mile. A girl with a well filled program travels thus in one evening: Twelve waltzes, nine miles; four other dances at half a mile each, two miles; the interval strolls and trips to the dressing room, half a mile; total, eleven and a half miles.

It is a common thing that chiggers prefer the white meat.

That Depends.

"It always gives a man confidence," remarked the popular candidate proudly, "to know that a vast body of people are behind him." "Not if they are coming too fast," murmured the horse-thief judiciously.—Window.

MAKING THERMOMETERS

The thermometer is about three centuries old as an invention, but it has been in general practical use less than half that time. The first thermometers for special uses were manufactured in London in 1726 and were from one to four feet long. Within the last fifty or seventy-five years the number of special types, designs and uses of thermometers has grown to be limitless. There are certain types regularly manufactured now which register as high as 1,000 degrees, while others go as low as 70 below zero.

Any chance passerby who stops to examine the line of cheap instruments exposed for sale on a street stand cannot fail to be struck with the variety of temperatures they record. These instruments are made without any especial care and are designed to get only within five or six degrees of the actual. In making accurate thermometers the glass tubing is first drawn out to great lengths, frequently exceeding 400 feet. These lengths are then cut into pieces about four feet long, known as canes. Not more than four or five out of 100 of these canes are found perfect. The rest are destroyed, and that is why thoroughly accurate thermometers cost so much. The bore of a thermometer is finer than the diameter of a hair, but looks much larger than it really is on account of the magnifying lens front of the tube. To make the bulb one end of this slender glass rod is heated in a blow pipe and is formed by expanding the molten glass by blowing through the open end of the tube.

The size of the bore determines the capacity of the bulb. The rule is that the capacity of the latter must be 1,000 times as great as that of the former. Getting the mercury into the bulb is the next process and is comparatively simple. The bulb is heated so as to expand the air it contains, and then inverted with the end of the tube in a dish of mercury. As the expanded air cools it contracts, forms a partial vacuum, and the mercury is drawn into the tube. The operation is continued until the tube and the bulb are filled to the proper point. Then the tube is roasted in hot sand to expel every particle of moisture. When it has thoroughly cooled the bulb is plunged into cracked ice to drive the mercury to a low point, and then the finishing of the tube begins by blowing a flame across the point near the top where it is desired to cut it off. It is drawn out until very thin, but a minute hole is left in the centre. Then the bulb is heated again until the mercury fills the tube and a drop of it is forced out, thus displacing all the air originally in the tube and the bulb. The top is then sealed and the hook drawn which secures the bulb to the scale.

Making a thermometer is all hand work. They have never been able to make them by machinery. One of the largest manufacturers of thermometers in America said recently: "If all thermometer tubes could be made with the same size bore; if all could be made with the same capacity bulb; if all could be made without taking into account the personal equation of the workmen—then, and then only, could the operation of thermometer manufacture be made mechanical."

Where to Build.

The Scriptural illustration about building one's home on a rock is as apt to-day as it was two thousand years ago, says The American Carpenter and Builder. And yet, the writer tells us, one of the very things that modern builders bid us avoid in selecting a site is rock. He goes on to say:

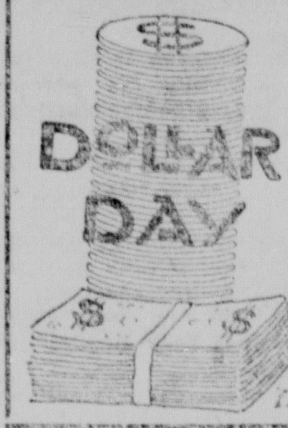

"That is principally because of the great cost of excavating a cellar in rocky soil. Another objection to rocky soil is that water will not soak through rock, and so runs down it. Some of this water would be almost certain to seep through the cellar walls, thus making the cellar damp, or it might undermine the foundations. Again rock often contains springs. If a spring were opened during blasting it would mean either that the water would have to flow through the cellar or be deflected—a costly operation. A house built upon a rock also vibrates during thunder storms.

"Clay is perhaps more to be avoided than rock. Clay collects water and spreads under pressure. It expands in wet or frosty weather and contracts in summer. Frozen clay clings to brick or stone and often causes dislocation of cellar walls and piers. Also it is impervious to water. Thus an underground layer of clay will prevent the proper drainage of rain-water and leave the soil foul and sodden. Finally, it is extremely costly to excavate.

"Undesirable for building purposes also are made land, sand, and silt. Made land is not always stable.

"Gravel is the ideal soil for building purposes. It is porous and drains perfectly. At the same time it is sufficiently stable to support foundations. A gravelly elevation is the ideal building site. Deposition or levels between rocks are likely to retain water, even the depression is slight, and the elevation distant. The ground water thus retained stands at a level. Small gravelly elevations form islands, as it were, in a subterranean lake, and upon them houses may be built with perfect safety. The cellar floor will be above the ground-water level and no rain-water will drain into the cellar."
